

Terms and Conditions for SA demo kit

Thank you for your interest in the Airosensor! We are really proud of this product and its capabilities for many different projects and are thrilled to give you a taste of how great it is. We understand that a lot of the time words can only go so far but actually allowing you to trial it lets the product to speak for itself.

To ensure you understand the conditions of the trial, we just have a few terms that we need to go over;

- This is a 7-day trial, your trial starts from the day you receive the kit.
- From the date your trial expires, you have a total of 30 days to return kit.
- If a return has not been received within the 30 days, we will shut off the kit and reserve the right to send an invoice of £500+ VAT. We'd like to not have to do this but unfortunately kits haven't been returned in the past.
- This is a free no obligation trial, however, the kit should be returned at your own cost.

If you have any issues or just need some support during the trial just give us a call- our engineers are always available for expert advice and support.

Thanks again!
